Peekaboo Morning

Synopsis

A toddler plays a game of peekaboo, and you're invited to play too. First there's Mommy to find, with Daddy not far behind. Then Puppy comes peeking around the corner, and a favorite toy train brings the toddler to Grandma and Grandpa. Isadora's brilliant, joyful pastel illustrations capture the familiar and cozy people, toys and animals that will delight babies. Join this sweet toddler in the morning fun, sharing words your baby can repeat and pictures your baby will recognize. Then find out what this toddler sees next. It could be you!

Customer Reviews

A toddler greets the day with games of peekaboo in Isadora's (Nick Plays Baseball) ebullient offering. Rendered in thick, silky pastels, the opening spread introduces an African-American child snuggling in bed, looking straight out of the picture. In the background, the sun beams through the open window, softens the edges of the child's deep black hair and shines light on his or her face. "Peekaboo! I see..." reads the generously sized, toddler-friendly type. "My mommy" appears on the following page, where the child, on the mother's lap, exchanges adoring gazes with her. From this point, recto-page illustrations, set into wide blank borders, show the child initiating the game (e.g., the child, peering over the edge of a white surface, cries "Peekaboo! I see..."), and full-bleed pictures opposite complete the act (the child spies Daddy lying on his bed). Elsewhere, visual clues help children predict what happens next. Sitting in a high chair, for instance, the child sees a furry tail sticking out from behind an open door; a puppy appears on the next page. The lustrous organic palette and simple, repetitive text make a cozy combination. Ages 2-6. Copyright 2002 Cahners Business Information, Inc. --This text refers to an out of print or unavailable edition of this title.

PreSchool-This pleasing picture book features a cheerful African-American toddler playing peekaboo with parents, grandparents, amiable animals, a friend, and even readers. Each sentence begins with "Peekaboo! I see-," and will have young listeners chiming along in no time. Clues in the pictures encourage children to guess just who is being peeked at on each following page. Isadora's rich pastel illustrations depict the child close-up in a colorful, attractive setting. Endpapers show a house on a big green lawn, while inside the book mommy hugs, daddy plays, grandma is busy in the garden, and grandpa relaxes in a deck chair. Whether children live in the city or the country, they'll be able to relate to this simple game and enjoy the narrator's obvious delight. Great for baby lap-sits and toddler storytimes. This book is adorable and the pictures give my adorable nephew images of a little boy that looks just like him.

This is one of the books that my baby loves! It's come to the point that whenever I see the baby's stuffed dog, I say, "Peekaboo, I see my puppy," because I use that as a prop whenever I read the story! Such a sweet book.

This book is not a story. It is pretty much identifying people and objects, but with the phrase "peekaboo, I see..." In front of said people and objects. Illustrations are a bit creepy on some pages (distorted looking faces) but not so much to scare your child. My two year old has pretty much lost interest already, but would be great for a one year old or younger.

Great book for little girls of color. Love the illustrations.

Great illustrations make this book a good choice for our little reader. The boy in it is adorable and great for young boys of color to see themselves in early readers. This will be used many times over for many nights of reading.

Cute and simple. Lots of smiling faces for my baby to look at.

My 16 month son has been intrigued with this book since the first time he saw it. He brings it to us everyday for us to read. When we can't read it to him he then sits and flips thru the pages himself. Wonderful clear illustrations for small child. This is a must have!

My toddler loves this book! It's bright, happy and sweet. Very cute illustrations. She, like most babies, loves the anticipation of peekaboo, so it was bound to be a hit =P
