Synopsis

If you are fed up with seeing crime on your nightly news that make you feel like youâ™re living in a war zoneâ |Or if youâ™re sick and tired of living in fear in your own house or apartmentâ |this may be the most important book you ever read!Hereâ™s whyâ |Most people have never thought about what they would do if confronted by a burglar. They donâ™t have a clue!Nor do they have any idea what they can do to reduce their chances of being singled out and chosen by a burglar in the first place.Others have not made even the slightest effort to avoid becoming a victim. But your chances of preventing a burglary to your home just got better than ever!I will show you exactly how the burglar selects his target.You will learn that "tough targets" donâ™t get selected and youâ™ll learn how to turn your house or apartment into a TOUGH TARGET! You will learn easy steps you can begin to take immediately, things you can do right now, today, to reduce your chances of being burglarized. You will learn that YOU ALONE are responsible for your safety. You will learn how to make a plan to keep yourself, your home, your family and your possessions safer and more secure from all the low-life scum bags that are just looking for an opportunity to make an easy score out of YOU!So imagine thisâ |Instead of laying awake at night worrying that someone will break into your home, youâ™re confident you have taken specific steps to fortify your security. Think about how incredible you will feel.WOWâ™now thatâ™s something you can really get excited about! Here are some of the tips, tricks and techniques you will discover:Why more people don't take steps to protect their homes against burglars -- and why that's good for you!Why you can't rely on the police, homebuilders, or locksmiths to keep you safe.Three things burglars don't like.How most burglaries occur.How burglars select their target.When most burglaries occur -- when you understand this you'll understand a key concept in burglary prevention.Physical security suggestions to beef up the strength of your doors.What to do with your hinges to prevent burglars.The best type of locks for your doors.How to select the best motion sensor light.How to secure your windows and patio doors.A $4.95 item to scare off burglars.How to determine if you need an alarm system and what every alarm system must have.How to install your own alarm system for around 300 bucks and get professional monitoring for half what the nationally advertised companies charge!The best type of fence from a crime prevention standpoint.How to trim your shrubs, bushes and hedges to prevent window peepers, prowlers and burglars.Free software to turn your webcam into a surveillance camera.Much moreâ |According to the Federal Bureau of Investigation one burglary occurs every 14.3 seconds. The sad fact is many of these are preventable, had the victims only known what to do or taken some other action. Don't you become the next statistic!

ABOUT THE AUTHOR Sergeant Mark

Buschena has been a police officer for 36 years. During that time, he has worked on patrol, investigations, was a canine handler, and since 1992 he has been and continues to be the supervisor in his department's Crime Prevention/Community Services section. He is a graduate of the National Crime Prevention Institute in Louisville, Kentucky. He is the author of five books on crime prevention and numerous crime prevention articles. He has appeared on many television and radio programs and newscasts as a guest discussing crime prevention and what people can do to protect themselves and their property. Customer Reviews

This book was an easy read and had instructions that were useful. There are SO MANY books on home security and they seem to repeat general, vague tips that are common sense to me. This particular book stood out because it gave very specific product tips and advice from a veteran police officer that could believably explain why some tactics are better than others. I quickly put the knowledge into practice and passed along the info to my family as well. I highly recommend this one AND sharing it's advice with anyone you care about.

This book has very good suggestions in it. Real good practical knowledge. A lot of common sense stuff, too, that never crossed my mind. For example, the aggressive application of fake motion detector cameras where they can be clearly seen. Signs driven into the ground with fake security service logos on them. Ways to strengthen your doors, never have a door with windows built into it. A lot of good stuff here...

As a certified geek and hardcore do-it-yourself fan (and author of How to Protect Your Home: A Do-It-Yourself Guide to Home Security Systems, I really liked Sgt. Buschena's no-nonsense approach that takes you right to the root of possible weaknesses in your home's defenses. He spends a LOT of time on hardening entry doors, because facts show that doors are where most burglars enter a home. The book covers areas you need to know about if you truly want to take the time to harden your home's defenses against intrusion. All in all, I thought that this excellent read from the view of an experienced police officer was well worth the cost. Being a techie, I had no worries about my own alarm system and my video surveillance, but this book helped me further beef up an entry door to better guard against a brute force attack.

Really great information to put into action. It gives a lot of usable solutions, ideas and tools on how to protect yourself and your family based on years on real experience in the field of security. Thanks!!

I bought several books to give me ideas about what I could consider doing to improve my home security. This books delivers lots of great ideas that everyone can consider in plain, easy to understand and enjoyable to read English. I'm not an expert but I now have a checklist of questions to reflect on and suggestions that I can consider. Definitely worth both the time and money!!!

Great reference nad real life info!

I have recently installed a alarm system and did several updates to door and window security, this after much research. I should have bought the book to start with, covered all I learned in months of online reading and research. Great up to date hot links to security items, worthwhile read..

Great advices to the unaware people, just a little bit of common sense, and great comments on how to add an extra layer of protection to your home, and your family. I really appreciate the advertising, specially in locks, gives me a better idea on what i need to buy to reinforced my door's entry.
