Patricia O. Quinn, MD, is a pediatrician in Washington, D.C. and is the director of the National Center for Girls and Women with ADHD. She is the author of Putting on the Brakes (2nd Edition, APA Books) and other books on ADD/ADHD.

Activities are good if you have a somewhat creative child. My child is not completely great with using the book but he was able to learn about being ADHD. We sat down and read parts of the book together. My son is 6 and most of the book was way ahead of his age. I would recommend for a preteen.

Was happy to see that this has been updated in such a current and (very) useful style! I had stopped using the first edition, because it was almost obsolete. You won't be disappointed having this in your tool box with these updates. .

My daughter has ADHD, she struggles with severe hyperactivity, inattention and impulse control. I got this for her to work on this summer, and so far she really enjoys it.

I'm a postdoc working with middle schoolers two days a week, and this far they have all responded well to this workbook; a rarity in our field.

great book and great resource for kids and families

Everything is great!

MY 9 YEAR OLD loves it

very good book.
