Terry Cooper, the Texas RV Professor and America's RV Expert, is a master certified RV technicians who regularly gives Webinars and seminars on how owners can repair their own recreational vehicles. He is the father of four daughters and the grandfather of eight. He and his wife, Evada, live outside Waco, Texas.

This is the third time I have ordered these for my 2nd grade classroom. I love them because the students can do most of the work on it independently to help us learn more about the. I also love the parts where they have to write reasons about why they are a star, how they show they care about others, and three fun facts about themselves along with the usual favorites. Caregivers love these because they don't have to come up with a pinterest-worthy poster with all kinds of pictures and decoration along with thinking up what to put on the poster. I will keep ordering these for my classroom. Bonus that there are 30 in a package to accommodate growing class sizes in Utah! Love this product.

I attempted to use these in a 2nd grade classroom during the first week of school. It was a bit of a disaster as they are a bit too advanced for this age. The posters were great and provided a lot of room and prompts for the students to share about themselves in writing and coloring. However, in my classroom I found that the students were unable to read or understand some of the prompts thus they were lost and unable to complete the poster without a lot of one on one help. We ended up abandoning them. That being said these would be great for an older grade, maybe 4th and up. They would be a great get to know each other activity and allow for great lesson building from them such as a get to know your peer scavenger hunt or a game of who is like me. The posters themselves were really well made of high quality paper and dark print so they could be read from a distance. They are very large so if you have a lot of students be aware that you are going to need a lot of wall space if you plan to display these posters.

Fun activity with the grand kids. I brought there and some fun art supplies on an out of state visit with our grand children. We had a great time working on them and it gives us a way to keep up on the kids changes from year to year. There are 30 in a pack but that was no problem the extras were great to share with their friends, We were the fun grand parents for planning a cool activity. When they were complete we had them laminated at our local staples for less than $5.00. We are creating a wall of fame, in our guest room for the kids to enjoy when they visit. We plan to do a different (style) poster each year with the kids thanks to having many different designs available.

I use these posters every year in my classroom. My students love each component on the newspaper. It is not too overwhelming, and it provides me with a quick assessment on my students. They do take my students some time to complete them, so if you plan to use them in your room, make sure you schedule enough time.

Great way to have students complete a Biography on a Famous person. I use these with my 2-4 grade Special Needs students and we work on them in class. If you want to give these to students to complete independently, I would recommend 3-5th grade.

My students really enjoyed working on these the first couple of days of school. It kept them busy while I organized their supplies and got them settled. Also it was a great way to get to know them and them to get to know each other.

I love using this poster at the beginning of the year. I like that it's poster sized, larger than a normal piece of paper. The students enjoy filling it out and sharing about themselves to their peers and new teacher. This year I gave students time in class to color and fill it out. They were able to bring pictures from home to attach to the poster and share a couple memories, or they could choose to draw portraits of themselves. Each day, one student is the Star of the Day and gets to present their poster to the class.

I teach 5th grade and this is an excellent product for my 5th graders. I use these on the 1st day of school and they work great as an ice-breaker activity. Once the students complete their posters I then display them on a bulletin board in the hallway for parents to look at on Back to School Night. There are many great writing activities on the poster which are age appropriate. 30 posters come in a package as well as a mini lesson guide for different ideas and ways to use the posters. Please note that the product dimensions listed are the size of the posters when they are folded! Unfolded they are large posters that span 22" by 17". Overall, I would definitely recommend this product, especially at the fantastic price they are listed at.
