Steve Light is a teacher and storyteller. He lives in New York City.

My son is a big fan of the Steve Light books...we already have Planes Go and Diggers Go. He's recently become enamored by trains! So when I saw there was a Trains Go book too, we had to get it! The pictures are big and bright, the sound effects makes my son laugh, and he loves to flip through the book on his own and look at the photos and makes his own sounds.

We take care of our precious grandson during the week. We have been reading to him since he was two months old. He has enjoyed it from the start. I'm always on the lookout for a durable, well-illustrated, interesting book. I read the reviews on Trains Go and thought it might be a good addition to our library. Excellent choice!!! He is 7 mo & LOVES this book. When you are reading to him he turns to look at you when you make the sounds. The look of delight on his face is priceless. The book measures about 12" wide by 6" high. Each page as a colorful illustration of a type of train and the sound it makes. This is the time to really let your inner vocal talents out. When that "zoooooooooshshshshshshshshshshsh" sound appears on the page in smaller, then gradually bigger, then gradually smaller letters, give it all the softness and loudness and length it deserves. Your listener will reward your effort with an irresistible smile time after time. Then.....read it again!

My son used to look for this book every single time that we visited the library. Finally I thought to check for it on . So glad I did! Steve Light knows how to capture a child's attention with both illustration and sound. We LOVE reading his trains, planes, trucks and boats books. They're both entertaining and enjoyable.

We LOVE LOVE LOVE this series by Steve Light. We love them so much we are starting to buy them for friends (who are also reporting LOVING them). Great sound words that keep kids attention and interest! The 2 year olds we know that own them ask for these books and "read" the sounds to mom & dad!

Do not buy this book if you are hoping to teach your child about the different types of trains. The pictures are not the greatest as well.

This book was in great condition my son loves it. I would highly recommend buying used from them and buying used in general save money and the planet.

This is a great book for kids who like trains. My son requests it almost nightly.

We checked this book out from the library but unfortunately had to return it. My 14-month-old wants us to read this again and again now that we own it. The original vendor sent the wrong book but refunded our payment and let us keep the college textbook they sent by mistake. Once we ordered it from with Prime shipping, it got here in the requested two days in great shape along with another book. The pictures and onomatopoeias are very engaging and my son is starting to get the sounds down by himself. Every time he sees a train now he says "ding ding!". We also own "Trucks Go" by Steve Light and he loves that one too.
