One of my new favorite books to read with my baby!

Our granddaughter (11 moths) is very happy to go through each page

My 14 month old did not like this book as much as other's by the same company. He prefers the ones for babies like Babies Love Animals. My son also was impatient with the length of the rhymes and the images were just not as engaging for him. Honestly though, my son needs to read books with more words per page and with more complex scenes - it builds literacy and discrimination skills. By 16 months, my son was able to get through the book and enjoyed it more, but its still not a favorite because its more of a chore for him then the breeze through baby books. So it may be a developmental stage thing.

My son loves these books, and they are well made so they stand up to his abuse! At 19 months he isn't interested in just regular books yet, we need something he can interact with and these are perfect.

It rhymes! It's colourful. The cardboard and flaps are very nice. It has animals. It has great illustrations. I bought it at marshalls and then came on here to see if there were more books like this. My one year old and I are fans.

We all love this book. My 2 year old granddaughter loves the sounds.

Nice, thick, sturdy flaps. They won't rip right off like so many other flimsy lift-the-flap baby books that drive me crazy. Cute text too. Little Green Frog is also a great buy!

My 11-month-old grandson loves these lift a flap books. He sits and listens to me while I read them, so it's good they're not too wordy. He loves to open the flaps.
