Residents of northern New Mexico since 1970, Don and Barbara Laine have traveled extensively throughout the Rocky Mountains and the Southwest, spending as much time as possible in the outdoors, and especially in the region's national parks and monuments. They have written Frommer's guides to Utah, Colorado, and the National Parks of the American West. The Laines have also authored Little-Known Southwest, New Mexico & Arizona State Parks, and Best Short Hikes in Arizona for The Mountaineers, and The New Mexico Guide for Fulcrum Publishing.

Although we are still in the planning stages, of the 4 books I have on Zions/Bryce the Frommer's guide is the one I keep going back to. It will be small enough to keep in our backpack while hiking, yet it's easy to read unlike the Lonely Planet's version. It has some nice historical facts, but mostly just drills down on the hikes and makes it easy for me to decide what our family can/can't do.

The book is abbreviated but gives good insight into the best trails and some background on the parks. The fact that they talked to actual rangers and retired personnel were a plus. The restaurant that was recommended at Zion, Pizza and Noodles, had a nice atmosphere but heavy and sort of amateurish pizza. If you're at the parks for a couple of days each, the book is most helpful.

I purchased this guide in addition to the Falcon Guide for Hiking Zion and Bryce Canyon and they were the perfect combination. We used so many of the suggestions in this guide. It helped us get the most out of our vacation and took out a lot of the guesswork. We took the restaurant suggestions and they were right on the money! I would purchase a guide by this publisher again.

Enough information to make our trip this summer a good one.

I've bought Frommer's guides for my first visit to a lot of places. This one was another success. The guide helped us come up with a short list of things to do and see. We were not disappointed.

The book is very detailed. I was kinda let down because it is not in color. I must have missed where it said black and white only. I love Frommer's books they are the best travel books in my opinion. But in the past they have been nicer looking. Really wonderful in depth information!

I bought two guides from different sellers, and wasted my money because one was ten years older than the other. Why does this always have to be buyer beware?

Get the logistical and other details before you go - it just makes the trip more meaningful. Both Frommer and Fodor provide valuable information. I use those for logistics, and then I get the Dorling-Kindersley books for the cultural and historical information, plus the great detailed photos and 3D color line drawings of the sights and areas. Another wonderful book, Zion & Bryce Canyon National Parks, is written by Sarah Benson, Lisa Dunford and Carolyn McCarthy, who provide wonderful conversations about history, geology, culture, and more. Soaking up this valuable information always enhances our trips so that we can deeply understand and appreciate where we are, who we are meeting, and what we are seeing.
